LYNCH ADVISES PIN BALL GAME LICENSE ILLEGAL

Status Of Devices Vague As Solicitor Holds Permits Conflict With Law

TORONTO CASE QUOTED

Welch Cites Correspondence Relating To Machines In Other Cities In Ohio

Pin ball and marble games drew their usual nickel patrons today in dozens of East Liverpool places, the status of the devices clouded in uncertainty after the city attorney told council they can't be licensed without clashing with state laws.

Whether they are skill games or gambling devices seemed to hinge on the interpretation of the city solicitor's phrase, "something for nothing."

City officials today refused to comment on the latest turn to the proposal to assess the owners of the machines.

Conflict With Ohio Law

City Solicitor Carroll P. Lynch advised council Monday night that the games cannot be licensed without being in apparent conflict with the general laws of Ohio.

He said that they are gambling devices if they offer the player something for nothing.

"Whenever the element of chance enters into the playing, and a player has the opportunity to receive something for nothing it comes within the provision of the law prohibiting the operation of a gambling machine or device," Mr. Lynch said, quoting from an opinion of court in the case of Mills Operating Co. vs. village of Toronto.

The opinion defined slot vending machines and pin ball or marble game machines, quoted from sections of Ohio code on powers of municipal corporations permitting gaming with a device for gain and exhibiting gambling device for gain; considered possibilities of the pin ball and marble games as games of skill and their relation to billiards, pool and gambling; and concluded that the games in question, if offering something for nothing, are in conflict with Ohio laws.

Councilman James Welch, at the last meeting requested an opinion on the authority of council to license slot machines, pin ball or marble tables or machines and automatic machine games.

Youngstown Letter Read

Mr. Welch Monday night read a letter from A. R. Altman, secretary to Lionel Evans, mayor of Youngstown, and a copy of that city's "skill game ordinance."

Youngstown, it revealed, licenses and regulates pin ball games, recognizing as legal "any game of skill that does not pay out something of value."

Other letters read by Mr. Welch were from C. O. Sherrill, city manager of Cincinnati, saying pin ball machines are not licensed in that city when they are not considered gambling devices.

Unlicensed devices unless prizes are offered, from Frank B. Thomas, deputy supervisor of the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices at Columbus who said, "We do not think it (legality of gaming machines) a matter for our consideration," and from Frank K. Norwood, clerk of council, Canton, who said, "We have no ordinance governing or regulating pin ball machines."

Mr. Welch at the time predicted the city could obtain $15,000 to $20,000 annually in revenue from licenses.

U. S. STEEL AND SWOC RESUME PAY PARLEY

Murray Reports Conference 'Amicable' At Opening

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Representatives of the United States Steel Corp. and the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, a CIO affiliate, resumed negotiations today for a new agreement for employees of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., largest of the U. S. Steel units.

At the conclusion of a brief exploratory session yesterday, Chairman Philip Murray of the Steel Workers' committee, described the meeting as "amicable" and said conversations probably would continue for several days, possibly switching to Pittsburgh.

While the negotiations are concerned primarily with employees of Carnegie-Illinois, whose agreement expires Feb. 28, any new contract would serve as a standard for new agreements with all other companies which have contracts with the SWOC, comprising the bulk of "big steel."

Firestone Burial To Be Made In Family Plot At Columbiana

Body Of Akron Industrialist To Be Returned North For Funeral Rites Friday

Special To The Review.

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 8.—Harvey S. Firestone, Akron rubber king who died peacefully in his sleep Monday in Harbel villa, his mansion by the sea at Miami Beach, Fla., will be buried beside his father and mother, Benjamin and Catherine Flickinger Firestone, in the village cemetery here near his birthplace.

Three sons of Mr. Firestone were in Miami Beach today to accompany the father's body to his Akron home where funeral services will be held Friday for the 69-year-old industrialist.

The cemetery, which is across the road from Firestone's recreational park, which Mr. Firestone donated the village in one of his many philanthropies, is being beautified and landscaped in accordance with his wishes and will not be completed in time for his immediate burial. Friends here were of the opinion his body would be placed in a receiving vault until burial can be made.

The Rev. Walter F. Turks of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Akron, will conduct services in Harbel Manor, the home there, Columbiana is expected to send a delegation to pay last respects to one of the county's most illustrious sons, who was born on a farm on the Columbiana-East Palestine rd. Dec. 29, 1868.

Only one son, Russell, was with his father at death. Two others, Raymond and Roger, came south yesterday while Leonard and Harvey, Jr. remained in Akron to arrange the funeral.

Mrs. Firestone was in the north and a daughter, Elizabeth, was at Smith college, where she is a senior.

The cause of Firestone's unexpected death was given as coronary artery thrombosis, a blood clot near his heart.

Firestone was the founder of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and at his death was chairman of the board of directors.

Three ice-breaker ships were converging today on the Greenland sea area where the polar scientists are stranded, and a fourth was about to join in the search. The ships had aboard eight planes, variously equipped for open water or with skis for ice landing.

Only three of the dirigible crew of 19 escaped unharmed and Capt. Gudovantseff, commander, was among the dead.

The dirigible's flight was uneventful between Moscow and Leningrad.

Unable to get its bearings by radio, the dirigible approached Kam at low altitude, then disappeared in the darkness. Inhabitants of the sparsely-settled region heard the low whirr of the motors. It ceased suddenly, and rescue parties at once began a search which ended nearly 24 hours later when natives on skis, traveling with reindeer, found the wreckage.

Poor Visibility Blamed

The crash was the first major dirigible disaster since the German Hindenburg exploded while mooring at Lakehurst, N. J., May 6, 1937, with a loss of 36 lives.

The dirigible disaster was attributed tentatively to low flying in poor visibility. Stories of the six men who escaped death in the crash could not be obtained, but they apparently owed their lives to the use of the area separating the ship instead of inflammable gas.

Last fall the V6 remained aloft 137 hours and 27 minutes in a cruise around the Moscow region, which Russians said was a world's endurance record. I. V. Pankoff, who piloted the ship on that flight, was killed in the crash.

Membership in the expelled unions was said to total 662,000 workers, although A. F. of L. leaders said the mine union had only 423,000 dues payers out of its 600,000 members.

"We endeavored to heal the breach and bring them back," said Green. "We failed. The American Federation of Labor's executive committee has now met the challenge."

Green agreed with questioners that his 48-year membership in the Mine Workers' union, Coshocton, O. local, automatically terminated with the ouster order. He now holds office as A. F. of L. president on the strength of an honorary membership in the musicians' union. He said he would send a formal notice of withdrawal to the United Mine Workers.

The latter had charged him with dual unionism because of a local A. F. of L. charter granted to the progressive miners, U. M. W. local in Illinois. Green declined to say if he would join this group.

MRS. HAHN TO APPEAL TO STATE HIGH COURT

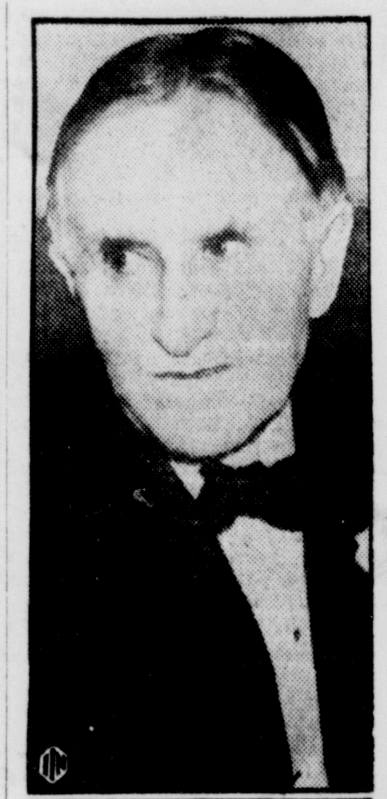

Attorneys Will Continue Battle To Save Blonde From Chair

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8.—Anna Marie Hahn's fight to escape the electric chair was headed today toward an Ohio supreme court test.

Losing her case in the court of appeals yesterday, attorneys of the blonde 31-year-old former hotel maid said they would appeal to the highest state court and the "U. S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Mrs. Hahn, convicted last November of the murder by poison of 78-year-old Jacob Wagner, retired gardener, burst into tears as she read reports of the decision in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus.

Warden J. C. Woodard reported the woman sobbed "uncontrollably" after reading the dispatches. Mrs. Hahn is scheduled to die March 10.

Airship Crashes During Test Flight Before Rushing Aid To Arctic Scientists

THREE ESCAPE INJURY

Natives On Skis Come Upon Wreckage; Low Flying In Poor Visibility Blamed

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—The hope of rescuing Russia's four polar scientists from their drifting ice floe cost 13 lives in the crash of the Soviet dirigible V6, it was disclosed today.

The V6 crashed into a mountain during a snow storm Sunday in the Kandalaksha region near the White Sea while on a trial flight from Moscow and Murmansk and return.

The trip was preparatory to joining the rescue expeditions to aid the four scientists whose imperiled floe now is about 50 miles off the east coast of Greenland.

Three ice-breaker ships were converging today on the Greenland sea area where the polar scientists are stranded, and a fourth was about to join in the search. The ships had aboard eight planes, variously equipped for open water or with skis for ice landing.

Mayor Says 'Preposterous' To Rumors New Regulations Tend To Frighten East Liverpool Visitors

Mayor Lee Copenhaver today declared out-of-town motorists will be allowed to park for shopping and be accorded traffic courtesy. Clarification of one-way streets and highway routing signs were other traffic developments.

"Rumors that it costs $2 to park safe to park because of fines are preposterous," the mayor said. "We welcome out-of-town drivers. The traffic check-up is aimed at all-day parking and other abuses and not at hurried shoppers."

MAYOR APPOINTS CITY PLANNING COMMISSION

Hull Denies U. S. War Accord With Britain Or Naval Agreement With Any World Power

War Minister Claims World Unrest Forces Japan To Expand Military; Soviet Armament Program Cited

CORDELL HULL 'U. S. Has No Entanglements'

By The Associated Press.

TOKYO, Feb. 8.—War Minister, Gen. Gen Sugiyama, told a Japanese diet (parliament) budget subcommittee today that "world conditions" necessitate expansion of Japan's armament.

He referred specifically to Soviet Russia.

"Armament must be considered from the standpoint of conditions surrounding the empire," the war minister declared.

"The Soviet union has been absorbed in expanding armament year after year. It is my opinion that conditions force the empire (Japan) to expand our armament also."

Gen. Sugiyama said Soviet Russia has 1,500 airplanes in the Far East, "the majority of them in the maritime provinces."

Asked by a diet member whether Japan's air force was adequate, Sugiyama said Japan was bolstering her military air strength through the development of a civil aviation program.

Under this program the nation would have 5,000 civilian pilots as a reserve for war, and a total aerial war strength of nearly 10,000 pilots, navigators and mechanics.

"When the program is fulfilled," Sugiyama said, "our strength will be adequate."

Civil aviation in Japan today is less developed than in any other major power.

Of the empire's nearly 100,000 population, only 752 persons hold private pilots' licenses, and the imperial aviation association has said that less than half this number actually fly.

Chiang Directs 400,000 Troops In Defensive Move

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8.—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese sources said today, has taken personal command of 400,000 Chinese troops attempting to stem Japanese hammering at both sides of the vital Lungt'ai corridor.

Chiang was said to have arrived at the front north of Nanking to direct the army holding back the invaders south of Suowho and the troops facing Japanese in southern Shantung province.

Heaviest Lungt'ai fighting was on a 50-mile front along the Hwai river, 90 miles south of Suowho, the heart of the area separating Japanese-conquered portions of north and central China. Chinese said they had blocked Japanese efforts to cross the stream for a thrust northward.

In the Hangchow area, Chinese said they had recaptured Yuhang, west of the city, and were assaulting Fuyanghsien, to the southwest.

Meanwhile, Japanese emphasized that order to tighten discipline and maintain army prestige applied to all Japanese forces throughout China.

Gen. Iwane Matsui's instructions yesterday to tight breaches of discipline were issued after an investigation at Nanking by Maj. Gen. Masaharu Homma, sent from Tokyo when the United States protested attacks on diplomatic officials and American property by unruly Japanese soldiers at Nanking.

City Relief Bill Totals $27,282

2,046 On Rolls Represents Increase Of 248 Persons Since First Of Year

East Liverpool's relief bill today totaled $27,282.66 with 2,046 individuals receiving poor aid as of Feb. 5, it was revealed in a report, James R. Hall, service-safety director, submitted to city council Monday night.

Of this amount $14,579.72 remains of the "moral obligation" of the old administration, while $12,702.94 is the new administration's deficit. City officials expect the load to slacken by Feb. 15, with some clerical becoming eligible for federal-state benefits and others for their first WPA checks.

Pittman Reads Note Which Answers Three Questions Asked By Sen. Johnson In Resolution On Monday

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Secretary Hull in a letter to Sen. Pittman (D) of Nevada denied today that the United States had any agreement with Great Britain "relating to war or the possibility of war."

The secretary of war also denied that this country is bound by any agreement with any power in connection with operations of the navy.

Pittman, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, read Hull's letter to the senate. It gave the specific answer "no" to three questions which Sen. Johnson (R) of California had framed in a resolution offered the senate yesterday.

Johnson had asked whether there was an "understanding" between the United States and Great Britain regarding measures to be taken in the event of war; whether there was any alliance which would call for use of the navy "in conjunction with any other country;" and whether there was an agreement by which the navy would do patrol duty in any particular ocean or section of an ocean.

Leahy Continues Testimony

Pittman previously had predicted that the foreign relations committee would support Johnson's request for the information.

Pittman read the letter a short time later after Admiral William D. Leahy said today the United States could "very profitably" engage in development of dirigibles, but advocated leaving such experimentation to commercial agencies for the present.

The navy's chief of operations, testifying for the seventh consecutive day on the proposed $800,000 naval expansion program, told the house naval committee the navy should disregard lighter-than-air craft at this time because no other navy is developing them and other types of equipment are more urgently needed.

Johnson said Americans "should be informed if anything is in existence that will lead or tend to lead this nation into war."

He denied the resolution was offered for any effect it might have on consideration of the pending naval appropriations bill, which he said he would support.

"General Pronouncement" Asked

Sen. Bone (D) of Washington, declared the senate should receive a "general pronouncement" of foreign policy, but added he was "not in favor of calling for any blueprints of the state department's plans."

La Follette expressed the belief that the state department's request to Japan for information on its naval program was a "bulldozing" bill, but before Congress, Nye took a similar view, predicting that a formal refusal by Japan to disclose its construction projects would bolster the move to increase American armaments.

(Although reports from Tokyo indicated the state department's request would not be answered officially, a foreign office spokesman declared that Japan had no plan for building 43,000-ton battleships.)

Insurgents Report Advance North Of Teruel

By The Associated Press.

HENDAYE, FRANCE, AT THE SPANISH FRONTIER, Feb. 8.—Spanish insurgent officers sent word today that the fourth day of the insurgent mass offensive in the rugged district north of Teruel had put government armies in headlong retreat.

Officials insurgent dispatches described the fighting as "veritable butchery" of government troops. Government advisers said there was "great calm" in military circles and added that government forces were "resisting desperately."

Yesterday's advances by insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's warriors won them 68 new positions and 25 villages, and relieved partially a threat against the insurgent eastern communications.

In air battles near Teruel, insurgents said they had shot down "seven Martin bombers and one Curtiss." Government sources asserted six insurgent "raft" had been shot down.

At Perpignan, France, Joe Dallet, or Ballet, of Cleveland, O., was listed among 14 Americans killed last month in the Spanish war.

7-Man, Non-Partisan Board Established To Regulate And Coordinate Projects On Long-Range Basis

LYNCH RULING CLEARS WAY FOR FORMATION

Copenhaver Selects Albert Frosch, James M'Gowan, C. V. Beatty, J. W. Kaiser For Municipal Group

Mayor Lee Copenhaver today appointed a city planning commission of seven members after City Solicitor Carroll P. Lynch had given him an opinion clarifying the law governing the size and defining the powers and duties of such a group.

In accordance with the state code Mr. Copenhaver, as mayor, James R. Hall, as safety-service director, and W. H. Vodey, as president of the park commission, automatically become members.

The mayor appointed: Albert E. Frosch, Republican, president of the Negley Sand Co., and a civic leader; C. V. Beatty, secretary of the Pottery Lumber Co., prominent Democratic leader, and election board chairman; James W. Kaiser, Republican, vice president of the Kaiser Baking Co., well-known East End business man and James J. McGowan, Democrat, sixth vice president in the National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery.

Frosch May Be Chairman

Mr. Frosch, probably will become chairman. The first meeting is expected to be called soon.

The commission will steer a long-range program for geographical and physical progress of the city, coordinate civic proposals and investigate and recommend projects pertaining to roads, street and park improvements and other municipal plans.

Mayor Copenhaver said it is a non-partisan board and that political affiliations of the members were disregarded in the selections.

Mr. Frosch based his decision relating to the number of members of the planning commission on section 4366-1 of the general code of the state of Ohio.

"City planning commission; terms of members. The council of each city having a board of park commissioners may establish a city planning commission consisting of seven members, of whom three shall be the mayor, safety-service director and president of the park commission who shall serve without compensation and who shall be appointed by the mayor for terms of six years each, excepting that the term of two members of the first committee shall be for three years."

Most of this section is incorporated in section one of city ordinance No. 2051 passed May 20, 1926 by council. Ralph E. Benedum, city director at that time, appointed a planning commission.

Section two of the city ordinance sets forth: "The powers and duties of said commissioners shall be such as are conferred and prescribed by the law of the state of Ohio and such as are conferred and authorized from time to time by the council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio."

The members of his last planning commission, Mr. Benedum recalls, were: himself as mayor, the late John W. Moore, as safety-service director, Mr. Vodey as president of the park commission, J. S. Hilbert, Mr. Beatty, the late Jason H. Brookes and Edgar Heddlston, councilman then and now, Harold B. Barth of the Chamber of Commerce served as secretary.

Mr. Moore, Mr. Vodey and Mr. Hilbert were members of Mr. Benedum's commission during the four administrations from 1926 to 1933. J. P. Croxall was an early member.

"A planning commission can render a very definite service to the city," Mr. Benedum feels. "I am very much in favor of it."

CORONER PUSHES QUIZ IN SLAYING OF RECTOR

Promises To Get To Bottom Of Case As Funeral Rites Are Held

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga., Feb. 8.—Parishioners of Old Church church gathered today to bury vice-fighting Dr. Charles H. Lee as Coroner J. D. Baldwin promised to "get at the bottom" of the rector's slaying "if we have to call every man and woman on St. Simons."

The 71-year-old Episcopal churchman was killed by a shot from the dark as he sat working over a sermon in the rectory Saturday night.

Coroner Baldwin, taking cognizance of the theory of friends that the rector's candid comments on wrong-doing might lay back of the killing, said he ordered the inquest for Wednesday specifically "to find out about all the evil doing on the island."

CITY ULTIMATUM ISSUED ON PERIL AT RAIL GRADES

Council Threatens To Slow Trains Unless Company Improves Protection

TWO FATALITIES CITED

30-Day Deadline Proposed To Affect Changes Or Speed Will Be Cut

The city today had threatened to cut the speed limit of trains from 35 to 15 miles an hour unless the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. improves crossing guard systems.

The proposal came as the result of two fatalities here at a rail and street intersection and other accidents involving trains and automobiles.

Will Contact Rail Firm

Council Monday night approved the proposal to restrict train speeds after a letter from Coroner Arnold Devon referred to the deaths of Russell Helfrich and Perry Peppin, killed in a Union st. intersection crash Jan. 29 and his survey of the crossings showing need of additional signals to reduce the hazards.

Motions initiated by Councilmen

Bert Goodballet and Charles Rumberger instructed Carroll P. Lynch, city solicitor, to contact Pennsylvania rail officials, requesting them to install protection at crossings within 30 days to the satisfaction of council. The motions promise that council will legislate to reduce the speed of trains unless the railway concern complies.

Mr. Devon's survey of crossings showed: Union st., a stop, look and listen sign on the south-side of the tracks, with no gates, blinker lights, crossing signs and flagman; Bleaker st., same conditions; Mulberry st. and Walnut st. satisfactory with gates and watchmen on 24-hour duty; Virginia ave. blinker gives insufficient warning considering width of street, should have gates and watchmen; east of Virginia ave. excepting blinkers at Elizabeth and Putnam sts. "have no more safety devices than those on a country road."

Other council business included approval of an easement providing for a sewer under railroad tracks at Horn switch and hearing of requests for more traffic lights. Claims against the city also were filed during council session.

City Engineer Howard C. Henry submitted the sewer easement providing for laying an 18-inch pipe under the Horn switch siding for the Carpenters run sewer.

Homers T. Amos, chairman of the street committee of which Mr. Goodballet and James Welch are members, submitted three street improvement proposals approved by council providing for:

Removal of a hump in Rigby alley and repaving of the repair with bricks, repairs to a retaining wall on Leonard st. and removal of junk from Moore st. within four weeks. The junk is owned by the Berman Junk yard.

Further investigation of the proposal to place a traffic light at Waterloo and Nice sts., petitioned at the last meeting of council, is to be made by the street committee.

Traffic Lights Requested
Other petitions were received for traffic lights at Highland and Riverview sts., Peake st. and Sutton alley and an Alpha st. intersection. The street committee also noted a request for new fire hydrants at Gardendale ave. and Allison st., Minerva and Riverview sts., Peake and Sutton sts., Lincoln ave. and Almont st., Fifth st. and Persimmon alley, West Eighth st. near Gaston st., Seventh and Jackson sts., and the east side of the Diamond.

Arthur Shone, clerk of council, was instructed by motion to report on ordinances concerning digging up city streets after James R. Hall, safety-service director, told council that individuals had "indiscriminately dug holes in the streets, laying the city open for damage suits."

The claims committee of council received written claims and grievances from the floor concerning personal injury or auto damage received in travel on city streets because of their need of repairs.

Mr. Lynch suggested the complainants file reports with the city.

Shelton J. Overdort, city auditor, was authorized to receive application from East Liverpool's two banks for deposits of city active funds during the period of Mar. 1, 1938 to Mar. 1, 1940.

Donahay To Hug Sidelines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — Sen. Vic Donahay (D) of Ohio indicated today he would take no part in the coming primary elections in Ohio. "Ohio has a general policy for letting the people settle their own primary difficulties without aid of higher ups," he said yesterday following a discussion of the Ohio political situation with President Roosevelt. "I have never taken any part in an Ohio primary except when I was a candidate myself," he added.

The army is seeking more college men between 20 and 26 years old for service as flying cadets.

'EXCUSE ME' SUBJECT FOR SERVICE TONIGHT

Girl Preacher Draws Crowd At First M. P. Church

Miss Betty Weakland, girl preacher conducting a three-week evangelistic campaign in the First Methodist Protestant church here, tonight will speak on "Excuse Me."

The campaign opened Sunday. A meeting for young people at 6:45 p. m. and a 7 p. m. prayer service will precede Miss Weakland's sermon. An audience that overflowed into the church corridors heard the young woman discuss "God's Great Word of Invitation," Monday night.

Out-of-town church workers attended the service. The benediction was given by Dr. Charles Beck of Eldersville, Pa., with whom Miss Weakland conducted two campaigns when he was pastor of the First M. P. church in Uniontown, Pa.

Appropriate musical selections were features of the service. Miss Weakland interrupted her sermon several times to sing a chorus bearing on her remarks. She sang "Come To Jesus," song of her own composition, in conclusion.

Irene Firth, violinist; Charles Brooks, cellist; and June Johnson, pianist, gave "One Sweetly Solenn Thought," while Dorothy Weakland, sister of the evangelist, led the congregation in singing "Every Day With Jesus," and gave the solo, "It Is Wonderful." A choir number, "Hallelujah, What A Sav-

Suit For $2,999 Gets Under Way Before Lisbon Jury
Special To The Review.
LISBON, Feb. 8.—A jury in common pleas court is hearing the first of four damage actions arising from a crossing accident at East Palestine in 1935 in which four people lost their lives.
Attorney L. M. Kyes, as administrator of Carl H. Renner's estate, is suing the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for $2,999, charging the company with responsibility for an accident in which Renner lost his life. The plaintiff's petition states the car in which Renner and his companions were riding was struck by a passenger train April 28, 1935 at the North Market st. crossing.

Omar W. Renner, William F. Renner and Jesse Walker were killed in the same tragedy. The petition accuses the railroad of negligence.

COURTESY PROMISED VISITING MOTORISTS

and must first hold public hearing.
City Engineer Howard C. Henry, in proposing traffic changes before council Jan. 31, outlined plans to place courtesy signs on route 30 instructing drivers how to circumvent downtown congestion.
"The Lincoln highway is not changed," Mr. Henry explained. "The signs are merely a courtesy to out-of-town drivers."
Frank Swaney, state Lincoln highway counsel, Monday night told councilmen route 30 carries four times the traffic of any other roadway.
An appeal for a traffic commission to formulate regulations and a warning "don't offend out-of-town drivers" were voiced from the floor by Mr. Swaney.
Outside Drivers Frightened
He said "word is spreading among out-of-town motorists that the city is campaigning against traffic violations and that it isn't safe to visit East Liverpool unless one is prepared to pay a fine." He urged less haste in enforcing new regulations.
Council left unanswered the request of a merchant for the privilege of parking on the Diamond.

The request drew from Mayor Lee Copenhaver the retort, "I hope some day there won't be any parking at all on the Diamond."
One ticket Monday brought the total issued by police to 55. Peter Diamond of 208 West Seventh st. became the 27th driver to pay a traffic fine.

Common Sense About Constipation
If you knew that your constipation was caused by something left out of your food, wouldn't it be just common sense to put that something back?
Your trouble may be caused by nothing more than this. For the most common kind of constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the bowels—you need some food that passes on through the stomach without being digested. Kellogg's All-Bran supplies this. It gives the bowels the bulky mass they need to work properly. And All-Bran also gives them the intestinal-ionic, vitamin B, which helps restore their tone. Eat All-Bran as a cereal or baked in muffins. But however you eat it, be sure you get some every day. And drink plenty of water. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

IN THE warehouses Mr. Pinnix has managed in Georgia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, 46,000,000 pounds of tobacco have been sold. Farmers travel many miles to bring their crops to Mr. Pinnix's warehouse for sale. Reason is that they respect his tobacco experience and business integrity. So surely Mr. Pinnix's views are worth your respect, too.
"At every market I've ever attended," says Mr. Pinnix, "Lucky Strike has bought the ripest, mellowest tobacco offered. That's why I've smoked Luckies ever since I first became a warehouseman 20 years ago."
Mr. Pinnix's statement is borne out by sworn records which show that, among independent tobacco experts—auctioneers, buyers, and warehousemen—Luckies have over twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

Sworn Records Show That... WITH MEN WHO KNOW TOBACCO BEST—IT'S LUCKIES 2 TO 1

LUCKY STRIKE

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO? When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Toasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

Opened Up

THE question of what unionism in the United States should do with communism in its ranks has been opened up at last by union leaders, the only persons able to find an authoritative answer. In brief, this is the situation as described by union leaders like Homer Martin and David Dubinsky:

There are communists in labor organizations. As communists they are more interested in their political doctrine than in development of unionism. Instead of trying to adjust unionism to the needs of a capitalist society, which is what unionists who are not communists hope to do, they are trying to wreck capitalism by preventing adjustment with organized labor. They are, in a literal sense, revolutionists, using labor organization to precipitate the condition of anarchy essential to forming a communist state.

It has been plain for a long time this was being done. Yet, by the same reasoning which prompts some unionists to defend racketeers who bore into their organizations, because the racketeers belong to the brotherhood, union spokesmen have been hesitant in talking about communists, not necessarily because they sympathize with them, but because they feel responsible for them.

That's why it's fortunate the matter has been opened up by union leaders, themselves. Unionism in the United States will be greatly strengthened and its usefulness in all things will be increased when it is no longer necessary to ascertain in each separate instance whether the purpose is to aid our present civilization or to undermine it.

Evidence

AS Justice Black no doubt realizes, his judicial opinions are scanned closely for documentary evidence of what it was which qualified him for appointment to the bench.

In a lone dissenting opinion last Monday, he attacked the court's interpretation of half a century's standing that corporations are entitled to the same protection as persons under the 14th amendment, which forbids states to deprive a person of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

Fortunately, Justice Black's single voice attracted little attention. For what he said was, in effect, that the Supreme Court of the United States should not have the power to review appeals by groups of persons associated in a corporation when states attempt to deprive them of constitutional rights.

It was not a question of law which he raised, because no interpretation so closely interwoven with legal history can be plucked out arbitrarily and discarded, but a question of social purpose. Justice Black gave every appearance last Monday of casually passing over the legal problem entailed in preventing states from taking unconstitutional action against corporations, ignoring the precedent established in English law and borrowed by this country that corporations, being composed of persons, should be treated as persons, and taking a gratuitous crack at big business.

One More Lot Of Evidence

THERE'S no doubt members of the CIO are as interested as anyone else in the problem of unemployment. But it may be doubted deeply that as individuals its members feel any special responsibility for the unemployed.

John L. Lewis' letter urging CIO affiliates to lobby for more work relief jobs thus becomes one of those gestures which men thinking about the future feel called upon to make for their own purposes. It is not the CIO which is going to put pressure on congress, but the leader of that organization.

To be sure, if congress responds, as it is expected to do, though not because of Mr. Lewis, both he and the CIO will be in a position to claim credit. It is, however, Mr. Lewis who will be in a position to collect credit, because he initiated the idea.

In other words, Mr. Lewis is piling up circumstantial evidence that in his position of labor leader he is thinking about his potentialities as a political leader.

Rockingchair Athletes

IT'S terrifying to think of the sore muscles and thumping hearts caused unintentionally by Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, the New York octogenarian who paced off four miles this week to celebrate his 80th birthday.

Uncounted thousands of younger men, reading about this stunt, but forgetting that the doctor always has run for exercise, started immediately to exercise violently and to hope about to prove they were the fine specimens of manhood they hope they are.

Few of them, fortunately, will go any further than to make the discovery that the way to grow old gracefully is to keep on doing what you've always done, which in most cases means sticking to things that don't require extraordinary exertion, like sitting in a rocking chair and moving it slowly forward and backward.

The transmission of photographic messages and greetings in the sender's handwriting was started recently by the British post office department.

Women have been barred for centuries from Mount Athos, a shrine on one of the Greek islands in the Aegean sea.

On The Record

Hitler's Army Coup Points Out Very Clearly That 'Compromise' Is Not In Nazi Dictionary

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

ALL the groups that have tried to compromise with the Hitler regime, and sought by collaborating with it, to influence its policies and perhaps save their own interests, have failed. Never was there a clearer lesson.

The German nationalists under Hugenberg, who actually put Hitler into power, thinking that they could control him, were quickly liquidated.

The Christian churches, who tolerated the persecution of the Jews, soon found themselves also persecuted. Dr. Schacht, the German financial wizard, whose brilliant services to the reich seemed indispensable, found that they were not.

Miss Thompson The capitalists who hailed Mr. Hitler as their savior from a nebulous communism have not around their necks Mr. Hitler's military socialism.

The employers who welcomed the dissolution of the trade unions, have got at their gates Dr. Ley. And now, at long last, the German army is switched into line. The spectacle is awesome, and the spectacle is the last expression of historic irony. For the army created Hitler. The army that despised the German republic. Without the direct subsidies of the army, in the early days, Hitler would still, in all probability, be spinning his dreams in a Munich cafe.

But the army was sure of itself. The republic had never been able to control it. It was above the state. It was, it is, no longer.

Hitler's coup against the army is also a coup against the last social class that has resisted being switched into line—the class of the Prussian Junkers.

Traditionally accustomed to rule Germany, and having both guts and morale, they have held out successfully so far against having their estates broken up and divided, and through the army they have kept control of the most important arm of the state.

They have actually dared to criticize, through the army, the cultural activities of the third reich, to defend the Protestant pastors, many of whom come from the same social class, and to tell Mr. Hitler that many of his imperialist dreams were extremely dangerous.

THEY have dared to point out that the economic condition of Germany made it unlikely that she could sustain a prolonged war; they have warned that Italy is not, historically, a very reliable ally; they have pointed out that Russia is rather far off from Germany's borders.

That is all that they have dared to do. For that they have lost their leadership. It is the humiliation of the last proud and independent group in the reich.

Yet, sheer logic should have shown all these groups, from the very outset, that they either had to throw out Hitler and his whole regime, or bow to him in blind and complete obedience. By "Hitler," of course, I mean the symbol and organization of the Nazi party.

For Hitler cannot possibly afford to compromise. All or nothing is the condition of the continued existence of this regime. For it to compromise on a single point is suicidal.

And this regime is not suicidal. It has a remarkable healthy and ruthless instinct for survival. That instinct is its greatest asset. For it exists in a soft world, which is unwilling to take risks even when those risks are the condition of continued existence.

How could Dr. Schacht believe that the Nazi regime would compromise in the field of economics, open itself to world trade, and gradually and reasonably resume its place among nations holding liberal economic policies? To have done that would have meant abandoning or relaxing its control over foreign trade and exchange, and that relaxed control would have made it instantly vulnerable, however the German people might have profited.

How could army leaders believe that Hitler could wait until Germany was fully prepared for any eventualities, before embarking on risky adventures? Hitler cannot afford to wait indefinitely, no matter what the risk. It is conceivable that in 50 years, given ample foreign exchange, and the amazing German capacity for organization, and skill in the fields of chemistry and metallurgy, Germany might come close to building a really functioning closed economy.

BUT without gold or raw materials that is impossible. Eventually the bag of tricks by which Germany has managed so far—the system of barter with blocked marks—becomes empty. It is inadequate.

Expansion into fields where they can get access to raw materials, either by military venture or political control, is a condition precedent to making a large scale war.

The Nazi state has got to expand or bust. And it has got to expand a little without war—but at the risk of war—in order, eventually, to wage the real war, for which totalitarian Fascism exists.

All this is logical, and the Nazi regime, as a regime, shows far greater logic than Dr. Schacht or the German army.

And meanwhile, there are in all foreign officers, all over the world, men who still cannot learn from themselves the lessons which every group in Germany has had to learn.

Namely, that one cannot compromise with this regime. Not only did Lord Halifax visit Berlin, to negotiate with Hitler, to see whether some concession couldn't be made which would turn Hitler's Germany into a "good child," but there have been four or five such missions, conducted secretly, at which it has been proposed that all the mandated colonies should be put into an international pool, accessible to Germany, in return for a political settlement.

Hitler will not accept such a proposition. He cannot accept it. Because such a proposition would be suicidal for the totalitarian state and the German imperialist dream. Or, if he accepted it, he would use it only as a tool for further aggrandizement — as he used Dr. Schacht, and the German nationalists, and the army leadership, as long as it suited him.

It will be utterly fantastic if the pro-German group in England continue to believe that they can afford to make a compromise with Hitler, when the army, help to the great Prussian tradition, proudest and most powerful single arm of the German state, has learned that no one can.

The day that Hitler's Germany takes Austria, an economic liability, but a tremendous strategic asset, that day, I fear, the whole world will have to face an even greater war—with an enemy fattened on the compromises of the peace-lovers. (Copyright, 1938, New York Tribune)

War Drags On

Theory Of Quick Victory For Aggressor Given Sharp Setback By Chinese, Spanish Conflicts

AS chief of bureau for The Associated Press in London, J. C. Stark holds a box seat for 1938's international drama. From this perspective he reports a conclusion about the "next war" which military experts are drawing from the two being fought today in Spain and China.

By J. C. STARK LONDON—A ray of hope has come out of the wars in China and Spain.

They have struck a blow, some close observers believe, at the popular theory that the next great war would be a short, decisive one with the advantage in favor of the aggressor.

The Spanish civil war has dragged on for more than 18 months. A few months ago, an early victory for Gen. Francisco Franco was forecast in many quarters.

The Spanish government's big offensive at Teruel, resulting in the rout of the insurgents, quickly changed the situation. Now impartial observers are predicting a long struggle, with Franco's chances of eventual victory diminished.

In China, the Japanese have had a series of successes. But in more than six months of bitter warfare they have failed to subdue the Chinese forces. And Tokyo is preparing for a long war.

From both, informed observers believe, have come a lesson to aggressor-inclined nations which may set back many years a general European or World war which a few months ago was feared everywhere.

Italy's conquest of Ethiopia earlier than some military strategists believed possible is considered by some observers to have encouraged aggressor nations in the belief that in modern warfare, a swift, surprise attack might achieve a fast victory.

THIS theme has been preached in the house of commons with a warning that Britain's vast rearmament program should embrace adequate defense against surprise attacks.

Winston Churchill visualized a "nine-day war" in commons in discussing the government's air raid precautions measure—"a war so short," he said, "that the scarcity of food or raw material would not prevent an aggressor striking down its victim and gaining a final result before any scarcity could become effective."

The theory has not been entirely exploded by the Sino-Japanese and Spanish wars, observers point out. But they believe the resistance of the Chinese and the Spanish government forces—the latter against armies heavily reinforced by Italians and Germans—is a subject under sober consideration by war staffs generally.

Italy, for example, is believed in diplomatic quarters here to be showing far less interest in the Spanish war than she was a few months ago.

Premier Benito Mussolini virtually has ceased talking about the exploits of the Italian volunteers in Spain.

Now his energies appear to be directed mainly at diplomatic activity—efforts to increase the scope and influence of the Rome-Berlin axis.

"The German people," said Hitler, "will prefer peace endeavors that are truly constructive in the service of general progress to any destructive warfare."

This came only a short time after the fall of Teruel to the Spanish government—a blow to the pride of Germans and Italians alike, diplomatic observers here assert, but a reminder as well that short wars still are uncommon.

Ohio History Notes

WHEN President Lincoln issued calls for 600,000 men on July 2, and on Aug. 4, 1862, Gov. Tod of Ohio was reluctant to resort to the draft system of recruiting; so he devised the county method.

Ohio's quota was 74,000 men, all of whom were to receive a bounty upon enlistment. This method of inducing men to fight was a mistake, for many enlisted simply for the money.

Most such enlistments made poor soldiers, and many resorted to the practice of "bounty jumping," as it was called. This was accomplished by enlisting and receiving the money, then deserting, and re-enlisting under another name.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—That dusky Harlem girl Josephine Baker is again the amazing dancing sensation of Paris, following her marriage to a rich white Parisian. Many thought her popularity must suffer with the reports of her terrific flop at the Winter Garden here a year ago.

She danced off in almost dead silence. But Paris hailed her with more fervor than ever. Reactions abroad are often puzzling. Over in Moscow the colored singer Paul Robeson is so idolized "in his country and dramatic roles that he is likely to remain permanently.

Bette Davis is probably the favorite female movie star in Europe. While Chaplin is something of a favorite everywhere, his most enthusiastic receptions are in Japan. Before the revolution in Spain, the elder Fairbanks was far and away the biggest box office draw among the dons.

In London they still have a warm spot for Tallulah Bankhead, and for almost 10 years shouting Sophia Tucker has been one of the most popular night club warblers. They also like Belle Baker. And strutting Harry Richman can open at most anywhere at any time.

The talk of hotelism has been the comeback of the venerable Hotel Astor under guidance of the one-eyed Bob Christenberry. When he was appointed to his post four years ago, the Broadway debacle had set in and the entire street, as well as the famous inn, was in the depths of a physical, financial and social depression. Christenberry had had a colorful career as a marine. In the front line trenches one day an enemy hand grenade fell at his feet. He picked it up and threw his right hand out of the trench with the grenade, thereby saving 11 lives and his own. As a first step in jousting the Astor out of its rut, he had a million spent on improvements. He operates on a revision of the old saw of the hotel world, in his book, it reads: "The customer is not always right, but the right customer is never wrong."

Donald Oden Stewart and Bob Benchley, long time friends, are reputed the drollest comedians extant when teamed at private parties. So often were they jockeyed into free entertainment that some tell me—and it's likely exaggeration—they will no longer attend functions together. However, the gift of comedy eventually hangs heavily on its practitioners. Wherever they go they are expected to keep everybody in stitches. It has driven a number into isolation. Comedians generous with their comedy, such as Frisco and Jack Osterman, so often face long stretches of "at liberty." Mark Twain in later years said: "People should pay for a good laugh the same as for a good painting. Each is a phase of art."

Hope Williams has been seen at some of the auspicious openings this winter after a season or so of semi-retirement. A few years ago she somehow caught the fancy of playgoers with her loping walk, metallic and draggy voice—plus an acid cynicism she mastered rather expertly. Every young boarding school girl so tried to achieve the same lope and viscous speech that it got to be a headache. Oh, yes, Miss Williams was three-sheeted as of social prominence, and that often helps in the New York build-up.

Speaking of acting, some photographers were around today to get poses of the Boston for a magazine. He didn't care much for it at first and barked his head off when the bulb flashed. But finally he seemed to get the idea and was posing all over the place, staying put wherever posed. There is a streak of "ham" in most dogs. Alf Loyal's famous stage poches worked far better when the audience was friendly and they never tired of coming back for bows. Paul Seydell's Spotty—the ace of performers—trembles like a leaf upon receiving an unusual burst of applause and tugs to get back and do his stunt over again.

Disillusion: The white-haired secretarial lady next table at Schrafft's last evening finished her meal with a float of brandy in coffee and a cigarette. And then gazed out in one of those unseeing ponders. Grave problems at the office and all that! But in a little while she glanced about furtively and from a handbag took out a tabloid and spread it at a certain comic strip.

Small Industries

Illinois Bank President Writes Letter Showing How Town Was 'Saved' Through Loans, Guidance For Little Plants

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—This is a story of a small town, small business, small loans, and yet efficiency, sound "pump priming" and an increase in population and employment.

It is a story, too, of how big business and little business are so interdependent that one cannot exist without the other.

President Roosevelt has the story on his desk, and it is best told in the way it was written to him by Lester J. Norris, president of the State bank at St. Charles, Ill. He writes under date of February 1:

"After the crash in 1929, my associates and I who were on the directorate of the State bank of St. Charles, Ill., were faced with a situation similar to that of most of the banks of our size throughout the country. The industrial situation in our little city was equally critical. After a survey of the situation, we primed our local pump by placing nearly $500,000 in the bank to make it completely solvent. To aid our industries, the services of industrial engineers were secured.

"There were 15 diversified industries manufacturing various products. . . . After analyzing their problems, financial and otherwise, we determined on a systematic and practical manner to give them relief:

- "1. Good management was encouraged.
- "2. Efficient methods were introduced.
- "3. New products were brought out.
- "4. Financial credit was given to the full extent of the present banking laws.
- "5. Outside private financial aid was given to some extent.

"One outstanding example is with one of these industries which formerly produced flat irons, then changed to wrought iron smoking stands, and finally to modern furniture.

THIS industry was operating in five small units. It was consolidated into one unit. Its profits in the meantime increased considerably and its payroll was nearly tripled. Without adequate help this particular manufacturing plant would have had to curtail its production and cut its force from 350 to 150. Because of financial assistance, technical advice and good management, its payroll now runs around 750 employees.

"The results of the assistance thus rendered were as follows:

"1. By 1934 to 1935, St. Charles' industrial employment increased 150 percent over 1932.

"2. By 1935 to 1937, industrial employment increased 400 percent over 1932 and 150 percent over 1929.

"3. The population increased from 5,500 to 7,500.

"4. Postoffice receipts increased approximately 150 percent over those of 1929. A new postoffice was built in 1936. The plans and allocation had to be changed because of the increase in business. A treasury official stated at that time that St. Charles postoffice receipts showed the largest increase per capita of any city in the United States.

"5. About 800 employees from other cities were employed in St. Charles industries last year. St. Charles technically had more than taken care of its unemployment problem.

"6. The Better Business bureau some three months ago rated St. Charles in first place of all cities in Illinois on purchasing power per capita.

"7. The city treasury has a large surplus of cash.

"8. The most modern sewage disposal plant in America has been built and paid for in cash out of city funds.

"9. The electric power demand is equal to the average city of 17,500 population. The city owns its own power facilities. The rates are as low for industrial uses as any in the United States.

"What is the problem now? First, the undivided surplus tax is working a great hardship. Second, inadequate credit arrangements, because of the stringent banking regulations, now prevail while excess cash is carried in banks which cannot work for productive enterprise."

Mr. Norris here interrupted his narrative to point out that "it is only fair and fitting to state that the one reason the aforementioned bank was able to become solvent was due to the fact that one large corporation (an eastern oil company) continued to pay dividends out of surplus which had been accumulating over a period of years." He adds:

"As a direct result of this fortunate circumstance, five small industries were aided in continuing their payrolls. Indirectly the result was far-reaching because the merchants were benefited by the payroll money which was saved. Two of the industries in the city were likewise aided through relatives of their management who were able to pledge securities of other large corporations for loans with the Federal Reserve bank and a large Chicago bank."

Mr. Norris told the President that the moral of this tale was the need for small loans to industries and that what was good fortune in this instance was by no means matched by such good luck elsewhere because the help from the dividends of a large corporation through a single family interest was probably not available elsewhere. He believes therefore in small loans to industry along the lines of the insurance plan in the housing law. His conclusions are:

"There is unlimited talent in our small industries to produce new products. Proper capital facilities for small industry are not open from private sources today. Our college students must be absorbed in small industry as well as large industry. Small industry is the life-blood of hundreds of communities in the United States. Cash is available in banks through insured loans for industry; the depositors can be safeguarded and the government not add to its indebtedness. The housing program would be stimulated and present FHA loans on homes made more secure; and the beneficial results to all industry would be manifold."

The administration is working on a plan for small loans to small business and congress will soon be studying this way of increasing the national income and reducing the expense of relief through creating jobs.

'Nudes And Prudes'

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Publishers of nudist magazines are again battering their sun-and-wind-tanned persons against the postoffice department in an effort to get permission to distribute their magazines by mail. And they are not having much success.

Isley Boone, managing editor of "The Nudist," has published a blast against the department for classifying certain issues of his magazine among the lewd, obscene, lascivious and indecent publications which cannot go through the mails.

He called up the postal department to learn whether the officials had taken a new slant on the subject. It seems they have not.

Mr. Boone looks on the whole thing as a sort of war between nudus and prudes. Nudists, he says, have a legitimate health and sociological purpose far removed from anything lewd or indecent. Yet because the magazines carries photographs of unclad colonists, it comes under the postal ban.

Like the rest of the government, the postoffice department seems to be on a sort of "24-hour basis" with regard to what is good and what is naughty. They haven't issued a broadside ban against nudist magazines—at least not officially. Each new issue it judged by itself alone; and if it contains nudes, it can't go through the mails; and that is that.

CONTINUED HELP OF WPA FOR OHIO HIGHWAYS URGED

A. E. Frosch, Road Planning Delegate, Points To Main Convention Proposals

MATCHING SUGGESTED
Planners Estimate Revenue Of $66,889,805 In '38 For Repair, Improvement

Continuation of federal aid in road construction and improvement in Ohio was one of the major recommendations of the Ohio Good Roads Federation at its recent convention in Columbus, Albert E. Frosch, East Liverpool delegate, points out.

Improvement of state highways not a part of the federal aid system, cooperation of improvement of main thoroughfares into and through municipalities, extension of the program applying to farm-to-market, rural mail and school bus routes which received initial improvement in the counties as WPA projects, were additional suggestions.

Suggest Close Study
"We further recommend there should be very close study of the needs of several through highways and program for their early modernization. To relieve traffic congestion there should be adopted a definite plan to widen city approaches, elevated intersections, by-pass or belt-routes and dual-way highways and also the completion of the main heavy traffic state highways serving industrial centers so that such traffic can operate with greater expedition and with less hazards and congestion to passenger traffic. Such promotion work is now under way and should be continued as rapidly as possible," the committee stated.

Under the heading of budget, the committee suggested specific appropriations for definite purposes such as:

Matching regular federal aid, matching federal secondary road funds under the Hayden-Cartwright act for 1938-39 inclusive, grade separations at both railway and highway intersections, allotments from the maintenance fund of an amount to be used for additions and betterments for the state system, right-of-way, extra work and miscellaneous requirements, bridges and culverts and reconstruction work.

Urges WPA-State Cooperation
Cooperation of the state highway department with the WPA to rebuild 1,000 narrow and unsafe highway bridges on the state system with the WPA furnishing labor and the department providing the materials also was suggested.

The committee estimated probable income for 1938 for road and street use as follows:

From the gas tax, $34,500,000; tag tax, $25,657,805; from miscellaneous, $1,000,000—a total of $61,157,805 from which is deducted expenses for the motor vehicle department, leaving $59,389,805 as the gross amount for state and local roads.

Estimated federal aid is $7,500,000 added to the state's gross amount totals $66,889,805 as the estimated sum available for road uses during 1938.

Call the Doctor Without Delay

It seems to be a human failing to put off calling the doctor until it is thought that his services are absolutely necessary.

The tragic part of that truth lies in the fact that unnumbered thousands of lives are lost yearly because of that utterly wrong attitude.

The average person is not in a position to judge when an illness is, or is not, dangerous, and if for no other reason that fact should urge that the physician's attention be secured without delay.

If you MUST err let it be on the side of safety. It is far better to get the doctor's advice even though the trouble proves not to be serious than to call him when his help is too late.

Let us fill your prescriptions.

HERCHE DRUG STORES
EAST LIVERPOOL — CHESTER

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

SYNOPSIS: Carrying a gun-cargo for Rajah Mantusen, we encounter a Dyak revolt against the Malays on Sumatanga island. Mantusen blames my uncle, James Clyde, and is holding him prisoner until I (Paul Thorne) can bring our fortified ship, the Linkang, up-river to aid the Malays. Christine Forrester, a young English girl, is behind the war, and supplying the Dyak guns. She refuses to call off her sharpshooters so I can rescue Clyde, and even worse, the Linkang cannot cross the bar, I must have her jaw, the Avon.

CHAPTER 19

Christine's Answer

"THEN," I told Christine, "there's no hope for Clyde."

"We must make hope. You must go to Mantusen, and find some way to persuade him to accept my terms. It's the only chance there is."

"There's one other," I said. "I told her now what I thought the other chance was—that although the Linkang could not be taken into the river, the Avon perhaps could."

I explained to her at long length just how I could kedge the Avon up the Siderong perhaps to that second turn which commanded the stockades.

"Give me my chance," I begged her. "I know the Dyak tribes could take me if they thought they could; but there's a possibility that they'll run from the sound of the heavy guns. There are still enough Malays left to carry the stockades, once I smash down some of the walls."

I went on with a lot more, talking hard, talking for my life. I fell silent at last because the girl said nothing, so that in the end I simply ran down.

The mass of orchids behind Christine was swaying a little, making plain how utterly motionless she sat. I noticed now the strange, unsettling quality of her stillness. There was a long silence, and eventually it became unendurable.

"In the name of heaven, say something!"

She stood up then, and moved slowly to the rail, her rope-soled shoes perfectly silent on the deck. She stood looking across at the moon-silvered loom of Sumatanga; and her profile was as quiet as if she had been looking at some sleeping flower garden in the English shires.

"The glimmer crop is heavy this year," Her voice was remote, as if she had been able to move herself miles away. "Whenever there's an off-shore wind you can smell those blossoms."

Part of me was deeply moved by that frail, valiant defiance of all the unknown fates hovering over Sumatanga. But she had given me my answer, too.

"You mean, then, you'll do nothing at all to help Clyde?"

Her words were very quiet. "My father lifted these people into this revolt. He trained them, and encouraged them, and loved them. Yet you want me to betray them, as completely and as treacherously as any people were ever betrayed."

I stood silent for a little while; then, in desperation, tried one thing more.

"The Linkang has a cargo," I said. "We don't have any of the usual trade goods; but we have guns—any number of guns. Suppose we offer the Linkang's cargo of arms in place of the Mantusen looting. You seem to know the Dyaks better than I do; but it looks to me as if we might be able to buy them off yet, with all those guns."

Her voice still had that toneless effect of great distance. "We have guns," she said. "We have all the guns we need."

I stared at her for a long time. "You speak a civilized language," I said at last. "And you look—well, it can't matter to you how you look to me. And yet you can speak of a mass of vermin-crawling head-hunters—and say 'we.'"

What stopped me then must have been the sight of her hands clenched upon the rail. There was nothing else in her posture to suggest tenderness. But even in that indirect light her knuckles shone very white. I could see the veins along the backs of her hands.

"There isn't any way we can talk to each other," I finished lamely.

"No," she said.

"It's final that you aren't going to do anything to help us."

"No," she answered me; I could hardly hear her words. "I think I know what I am going to do."

I waited, while for a moment she bit her lips.

"I'm going to send my brother to Mantusen in the morning," she said.

"With that first insane proposition?"

"Yes."

"I didn't argue; there wasn't anything more to say. I went back to my ship. But I knew now what I was going to do.

Her brother's fever would probably have cleared up enough by morning so that it would not have him from making the pull into the Siderong. I could have volunteered to go instead, with that message, like a fool.

Or I could have gone ahead and landed my guns, in an attempt to smash the Dyak stockades from a hill position. But that would have amounted to the murder of my own crew.

I saw now only one other way. At no time, did I have any confidence in my plan. I did not see then, and I do not see yet, how I could have accomplished anything except to get a lot of my people hurt.

Blair was violently opposed to my going on. I settled him by agreeing that he should stay with the Linkang, and that the whole activity should be mine, and mine alone.

Laboriously, because of the advisability of working without showing any light, I dismounted the long swivel the Linkang carried in the waist, the bow-gun, and two of the rocket guns. I lowered the longboat, and got the tube of the swivel into it, using our cargo sling. I tried adding two of the rocket tubes, but this was too much, and I had to take them out. I put them with the gun mountings on the cases of ammunition, ready to load promptly when we could get back to them.

High tide seemed probable for shortly after three in the morning. I decided to go into action two hours before that, in order to make ready for crossing the barrier of the Siderong delta.

I intended to capture the Avon!

2 Good Reasons . . . for a savings account

Their health, wealth and happiness may depend upon deposits that go into a savings account. Hence, the importance of having an account and adding to it every time income is received.

It is not necessary to have a large sum of money to open an account, you can start with a small amount and add to it, a little at a time.

MAYOR IN WELLSVILLE OPENS TRAFFIC DRIVE

City Declares Own War On Drivers' Violations

Following the example set in East Liverpool, Mayor Howard L. Kelley declared war on traffic violators in Wellsville today.

Fines of $2 were assessed Monday against five drivers, two charged with illegal parking, two with reckless driving and one driving with one headlight.

"Police have been instructed to bring in all violators," the chief executive said. "They have been ordered to be especially watchful for cars parked on the wrong side of the street. Cars must park on the side in which they are headed."

Vinegar was first obtained by the natural souring of wines.

Your Income Tax

Professional Men Given

Varied Deductions

13TH IN SERIES

A PROFESSIONAL man may deduct all necessary expenses incurred in the pursuit of his profession. These include the cost of supplies used in his practice, office rent, cost of light, water, fuel, and telephone in his office, the hire of office assistants, and expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile, based upon the proportion of time it is used in making professional calls or for other professional purposes.

Many physicians use their residences both as their offices and their homes. In such instance the physician may deduct as a business expense the rental value of the rooms occupied for office purposes if he actually pays rent, and also the cost of light and heat furnished these rooms. Also, he may deduct a portion of the wages paid domestic servants whose time is partly occupied in caring for these rooms. Membership dues in professional societies are deductible. Physicians and dentists who keep in their waiting rooms current magazines and newspapers for the benefit of their patients may deduct this item as a business expense. The cost of professional journals for the taxpayer's own use is also a deductible item.

The cost of technical books is not a deductible item, being a capital expenditure, but a proportionate amount for each year's depreciation. Depreciation may also be taken on office furniture and equipment. Insurance premiums on office or other professional equipment should be deducted. A premium paid for automobile liability insurance should be apportioned and that part of the premium attributable to business may be deducted as a business expense.

RIVER CONTRACT JOBS TO REQUIRE MUCH MATERIAL

1,600 Tons Of Steel Needed To Raise Crest Of Dams On Lower Stream

OPEN BIDS FEB. 18, 25

Pittsburgh Firm Gets Coal Order Of 3,500 Tons For Monongahela Locks

District manufacturers of river equipment are expected to seek contracts for the material for raising the crests of dams 47, 51, 52 and 53 at Newburg, Ind., Golconda, Rockport and above Mound City, Ill., when Louisville engineers open bidding Feb. 18 and 25.

The substitution of longer wickets and the addition of two feet of concrete to the tops of the fixed portions on the structure will add a two-foot raise to the crests of the four dams.

Will Eliminate Shoals Shoal water from Evansville to Cairo should be eliminated by the raising, engineers believe. W. I. Gregory, principal engineer in the Louisville district of engineers of the U. S. Army, expects to have the work completed in time for the low water season this year.

Structural and reinforcing steel, steel castings and forgings, cold rolled steel, piping and conduits and other required material total approximately 1,600 tons.

Also of interest to district fabricators is the bid opening set for Feb. 23 for nine spare motors and six brake parts for locks on the Mississippi by Rock Island engineers.

About 3,500 tons of mine-run coal for five-month delivery to the Monongahela river locks have been contracted to the Pittsburgh Coal Co. at $2.34 a ton while the Crucible Steel Co. of America has received a contract to furnish 40 rounds of steel bars at around 544 pounds each for $232.40 on 21-day delivery.

River Work Declines After the first rise in months, weekly river employment dropped 31 to a payroll of 1,552. Completion of removing Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks at Tycart dam accounted for 29 less workers of which one was government; contractor's lists lost 40 for a total of 56.

District office gained 17 for 623 as district field lost 18 for 605. Government rolls gained nine for 1,466 as Crooked creek gained 12 for 63. French creek borings added 10 for 16 and Johnstown flood control shrank 11 for a 27 total. Clearing Tycart reservoir showed no change and lead projects with 104; Ensworth dam lost 6 for 47, placing third.

Montgomery dam was listed at 25. Tionesta dam and soils laboratory each 14, lock 9 Allegheny river 19, and Wellsville flood wall one.

The B. F. Fairless was down with six barges of coke in slow dam 8 river traffic.

LOCAL PASTORS PLAN BANQUET FOR FEB. 21

Association Speaker Warns Fascism Threatens U. S.

Plans for the annual pastors' dinner in the First Christian church Feb. 21, at 6 p. m. were discussed at the semi-monthly meeting of the East Liverpool Ministerial association in the Y. M. C. A. Monday.

About 65 ministers, their wives and members of their families attended the dinner last year. The committee in charge of the affair consists of W. H. Nagel, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Rev. J. H. Lawther, Rev. D. Park Chapman and Rev. E. R. Reed.

Rev. K. Logan Barnes, pastor of the Holidays Cove Presbyterian church, read a paper entitled "It Can't Happen Here" in which he discussed at the Monday meeting the work of Dr. Emilie German minister and wife of Adolf Hitler. He declared that the same forces "which have robbed the German people of their liberties under the Hitler regime" were at work in an attempt to establish the same form of government in the United States.

Rev. Lawther reported that the temperance committee, headed by Rev. R. T. Lowman, was waging an educational campaign in behalf of temperance in schools of the East Liverpool district.

PRETTY FRANCISKA IS PRIZE OF BUCCANEERS

Franciska Gaal, noted European beauty and actress, makes her screen debut opposite Fredric March in the Cecil B. DeMille epic, "The Buccaneer," opening Wednesday at the Columbia theater. In the scene above, Fred Kohler Sr., a pirate, is trying to convince her that his is the right ship.

COMING ATTRACTIONS IN THE THEATERS

STATE A romantic comedy, "Let's Get Married," and a mystery drama of the Orient, "Mr. Moto," are on the double-bill of the State theater here set to open Wednesday for three days.

"Let's Get Married," is headed by Ida Lupino, Walter Connolly and Ralph Bellamy. Others prominently featured in the large cast are Reginald Denny, Nana Bryant, Robert Allen, Raymond Walburn and Edward McWade.

In essence, the story deals with the efforts of politico Joe Quinn (Walter Connolly) to crash society through the marriage of his daughter Paula (Ida Lupino) to George Willoughby (Reginald Denny), social dilettante. Into the scene comes Ralph Bellamy, as Kirk Duncan, handsome, truculent official weather forecaster. He and Paula clash, but love blossoms nonetheless, albeit hectically, while Willoughby nurses his wounds.

The mystery man, "Mr. Moto," matches strength with cunning—intrigue with lightning action—and outwits those who would plunder the hidden tomb of Genghis Khan. It's the newest and most exciting adventure of the celebrated Saturday Evening Post sleuth in "Thank You, Mr. Moto." Twentieth Century-Fox picture starring Peter Lorre.

Featured roles in the film are played by Thomas Beck, Pauline Frederick, Jayne Regan, Sidney Blackmer, Sig Ruman and John Carradine.

Seven scrolls when assembled provide the key to a fabulous treasure. This is the motivating force of the screen play by Willis Cooper and Norman Foster. The story opens with the mysterious "Mr. Moto," disguised as a camel driver, smuggling one of the scrolls into Peking. Then he disappears into the Gobi's shifting sands.

Sundown Stories

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Off Again "DON'T quarrel," barked Rip. "It was really my fault." "There you see," cawed Christopher Columbus Crow, "you are ready to blame me before you understand what happened. I don't know why it is everyone is always so ready to blame me," and Christopher pretended to feel very sad about it.

"It is true, as I always say, 'what is life without a touch of mischief,' but dear crow me, I'm not responsible for everything that happens. 'I'm sorry I blamed you, Christopher," quacked Mrs. Quacko, who discovered that with a little brushing off of the light snow she was quite all right.

"I'm afraid you're going to be late," barked Rip. "Oh no," quacked Mrs. Quacko. "I had planned to waddle over; and even talking to Christopher and having this upset hasn't taken as long as the walk would have taken me."

"You do waddle slowly, it is true," cawed Christopher. "Now be off, Christopher," barked Rip. "On my way back I want to gather some kindlings for Willy Nilly—some of those lovely ones that start a fire off so quickly. We have lots of wood, it is true, but I like to bring him back a little present once in a while."

"And a good warm fire will feel fine this evening," agreed Christopher.

The crow took to his wings and cawed loudly as he flew over the snowy countryside once more. "He's a handsome fellow," said Rip. "And he is fat."

"He is all that," quacked Mrs. Quacko. They were rapidly approaching Quackerville. Mrs. Quacko was as excited as could be. Tomorrow—In Great Style!

Spanish Loyalists, Confident Of Wiping Out Rebel Threat, Eye Clash With Italy, Germany

American Volunteers Returned From Civil Conflict Paint Picture Of Army's Progress In Talk Here

A Spanish loyalist army—far more powerful after a year of fighting—preparing not for Franco's rebels, but for Italy and Germany in openly declared warfare. This was the startling picture painted by Robert Raven, blinded volunteer in service for government forces, during a glimpse into shell-torn Spain at Mary Patterson memorial Monday night. Mr. Raven, former Catholic social worker and University of Pittsburgh medical student, appeared under auspices of friends of the Abraham Lincoln brigade.

Frank Crook of Cleveland, prominent in the capture of Belchite, insurgent base, also spoke.

Mr. Raven brought reports from the bloody battlefield of a green, unified force of men transformed into a well-drilled fighting machine by weeks in front line trenches and at camps behind the lines.

Insurgents' false radio-circulated victory claims were blamed for the general pessimistic picture of loyalist hopes in America, which in reality were declared decidedly bright. "Government troops now are concerned only secondarily with the rebel threat. Instead they are girding for a major conflict with the Fascist powers, Italy and Germany, who are pouring soldiers and military experts into Spain in an effort to trample out the democratic form of government."

These same Fascist powers, if victorious, were seen as a dire threat, through invasion, to the United States. More than 180,000 Italian soldiers, assisted by Nazi technical experts, are helping the insurgent cause, according to the speakers.

Increased educational facilities were given considerable credit for the unified front of the people, spurring the government forces to victory. Illiteracy, bred by suppression, is declared being rapidly wiped out.

Mr. Cook's account of the capture of Belchite demonstrated how, in many cases, "the tongue is proving mightier than the sword."

When bullets failed, loyalists hauled forth a giant sound truck, which reproduced songs of the Republican party and pointed out advantages offered surrendering foes. As a result, some 400 rebel soldiers in the besieged city laid down their guns without a fight.

Attorney Frank H. Hoover was chairman of the meeting.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll find it beats anything you ever tried. It has a remarkable three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Record Field Of Entrants Assured For Legion Ring Elimination Tourney Here

60 Applications Already In Hands Of Matchmakers As Amateur Interest Runs High—Boxers Must Weigh In At 6:30 For Wednesday Night Matches

With little more than 24 hours remaining before the starting bell starts the show, the American Legion's district eliminations in the state-wide amateur boxing tournament loom as the most extensive amateur boxing show ever staged here.

A record field of entries already has perplexed the Legion officials. With applications now exceeding 60 and still pouring in, the question is whether they will be able to run off the eliminations in two nights as had been planned.

The show opens in the Eagles hall Wednesday night. The finals were scheduled for Friday at the same place but with the way the affair shapes up there is a strong possibility that a third night will have to be established.

Last year's fights, which held the previous record, attracted more than 40 entrants. About this same number were expected again this year, but an increased interest in the amateur ring game in this district through the year, apparently has caused a sudden rush to glory.

Three Heavy Classes
The 126, 135 and 147-pound classifications already are topheavy with aspirants, led by Tad Diloreto of Wellsville, who last year pushed his way through the district and sectional eliminations and climbed to the final round of the state meet before being dropped.

Diloreto is back in the tournament but will compete in the 147-pound division this year.

There are 16 entrants in the 135-pound class alone, most of them novices. The 126-pound division lists 12 fighters and the 147-pound class 10.

For the first time in several years the heavyweights will be represented. Although this class always has been open, the heavier boys for some reason have avoided the show. This year, however, four already have signified their intent of battling for the crown.

Len Oliver, former high school football star, and Martin Thorn of East Liverpool, and John McGowan and Robert Edwards of Newell are listed.

More Entrants Expected
Late entries may swell the list to 75. Legion officials have received word from Jake Fields in Weirton and Jack Colored in Midland that they intend to send fighters. Ivan Hill of New Cumberland also is expected to be represented.

Fans may expect plenty of action when the host of amateur glove swingers go into action. The intense rivalry promoted between district stables insures that. In addition to those mentioned above, there will be an extensive delegation of Trotter-McGallie boxers from in and around East Liverpool.

The Chester Athletic club also will be well represented. The Mustangs A. C. has entered nine fighters.

The boxers have been ordered to report at the Eagles hall at 6:30 Wednesday night to weigh in and take the usual physical examination. Bout will be limited to three rounds and will be moved along fast in order to complete the program. Fighters will be notified to be on hand in time for their matches to guard against their forfeiture.

Teddy Yarosz of Monaca and Tony Zill of Youngstown will be the referees. Ray Foutts and Jimmy Massey will serve as judges. Howard Lindell is timekeeper for the Wednesday matches.

HAMILTON FALLS AS STATE'S CAGE CHASE TIGHTENS

Hillsboro Only Undeafed Class A Outfit In Ohio As Meets Near

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 8.—Two newcomers—Hillsboro and Mesopotamia—paced Ohio's high school basketballs today after a week of warfare which swept all but one of the Class A teams into the defeat list—the principal victim being Hamilton's state champion quintet which ran its victory streak to 40 before bowing Saturday night to the Portsmouth Trojans.

Hillsboro's Indians remained the only undefeated Class A team, as Hamilton, Akron North and Youngstown Scienceville succumbed for the first time. Canton McKinley's rampaging Bulldogs ended Akron North's string at 12 straight while Class B Poland knocked Scienceville out of the select circle.

Mesopotamia, village of 150 in Trumbull county, racked up its 15th straight victory Saturday to take the Class B lead, nosing out Enon of Clark county and Johnston of Trumbull county by one game. The Mesopotamia club in the last five years has a great record, suffering but six defeats over that stretch, all the setbacks coming in the county or sectional tournaments, after perfect pre-tourney seasons.

Eastern District
Toronto 12-1; Coshocton 11-1; New Philadelphia 10-2.
New Philadelphia and Coshocton expected to battle for Class A laurels at Dennison section, although Zanesville hinted it's "coming" by beating Dover 35 to 22 Saturday. Dover had beaten Canton McKinley, one of the northeast district's toughest. Bridgeport and East Liverpool expected to shine at Titonville sectional meet, although both have been treated roughly of late. Toronto's lone loss was to Weirton, W. Va., and that club offers the state's high scorer in Tom Kinda, who has counted 306 for an average of 24.

Northeastern District
Akron North 12-1; Struthers 13-1; Youngstown Scienceville 10-1; Youngstown East 8-1; Akron Ellet and Akron Central 7-1; Canton McKinley 10-2; Akron Garfield 12-2; Massillon and Wooster 9-2; Salem 8-2.

The Massillon-Cantoin McKinley clash Friday night should clear the atmosphere a bit, McKinley having won the first encounter. Massillon beat McKinley in last year's state meet semi-finals and then lost the title to Hamilton. The district boasts some of the best teams in years, and only the sectional and district tournaments can decide the state meet entrants, but the Massillon and McKinley teams look like repeaters.

Restaurant Five Tops Arner's In Chester Basketball League

McDaniel's Five Moves Into Deadlock For Leadership With 31-28 Triumph—Printers, Chaney, Goddard

Combines Better Positions With Victories

McDaniel's Restaurant overtook the leading Arner Gulf quintet in the Chester City Basketball league Monday night, handing it a 31-28 defeat and taking a share of the top position.

There was general tightening up of the loop chase as all but one game went by extremely close margins. Devon's Printers went into a tie for third place by edging the Citizen Drugs, 16-15, and Chaney's Gas enhanced its position by nosing the insurance total between them and their Bakery mates completed the job.

The Mustangs staged a magnificent rally in the last period, scoring 19 points to the Wolves' nine, to win 48-42. Skaleski with 16 points and Groglode with 13 led the attack.

Bennett of the Wolves, however, took top honors with 19 points. The Bronchos led the Bears all the way in their 37-30 triumph, but a rally on the part of the latter five in the third frame made a hot battle of it.

Mackey with 13 points and Burdick with 12 topped the scoring for the winners. S. Brown and Gerace each scored 10 for the Bears.

GEHRIG TO TAKE SALARY DEMAND TO OFFICE TODAY

Yankees' Contract Problem At Crisis In Conference With Club Owner

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The Yankees' contract problems were scheduled to reach a crisis today in the star-chambers session between the club's owners, Col. Jacob Ruppert and their high-salaried first baseman, Lou Gehrig.

The colonel and Lou were meeting in the former's ornate brewery office, the same room in which the colonel and Joe DiMaggio had their $15,000 difference of opinion some weeks ago. Gehrig, baseball's highest-salaried player, was demanding an increase over his $36,000 wage of last season.

Most observers thought the veteran first-sacker would be able to get a quick raise because the Yankees are anxious to get him signed to discourage DiMaggio in his wild-eyed request for a $40,000 contract.

Lefty Gomez, Bill Dickey and Red Ruffing are on the verge of coming to terms, the Associated Press learned, and Gehrig is depended upon to lead them into the fold.

There seems no doubt that DiMaggio intends to hold out right into the opening of camp at St. Petersburg on March 7.

The Yankees aren't at all pleased with DiMaggio. They feel that his salary demand is out of reason, and also that he has been talk too much. Ruppert feels that his offer of $25,000 to "that young man" was more than sufficient.

College Capers

ROCK HILLS, S. C.—Firemen answered an alarm from a dormitory at Winthrop college but found no fire.

A blushing and much-abashed young woman finally told them: "I pressed a little button on the wall because someone told me that was the way to get maid service."

Winthrop, a state college for women, offers no such luxury, however.

Frozen Assets

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—When the coupons on $200,000 worth of New Rochelle bonds failed to clear through the banks in 1934, City Director of Finance Walter J. Brennan thought nothing of it.

But when they still had not been presented for payment after the Jan. 15 interest date this year, he became curious.

Through the original purchasers, he learned that the bonds were sold to a woman who "won't be inconvenienced" by going to her safe deposit box to clip coupons more than once every five years.

She is due around again in 1939 with $46,000 waiting for her.

A day later he awoke in a hospital. Attendants told him he had been slugged and robbed.

Battle Against Social Disease Shows Advance

Object Of Public Campaign In Control And Ultimate Extermination

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

MEDICAL SCIENCE has always waged war against syphilis. It has been one of the hidden wars of mankind. At present a definite campaign against venereal diseases is being carried on by the lay public, as well as by the medical profession. Let us hope this marks a definite step toward the ultimate eradication of this social disease.

Only recently the United States surgeon general published an article in which he stressed the fact that syphilis must be regarded as a national scourge. He urged the public necessity of ending it. The doctor pointed out that if proper publicity is given to the means of dealing with the disease it may disappear within a reasonable length of time.

Heretofore, there has been great reluctance about discussing this affliction of mankind. The disease has always been regarded as a shameful thing and its known victims have been avoided. Those who sought medical treatment did so in secret. If that attitude were to continue, the disappearance of the disease could never be expected.

Everyone should be familiar with its dangers and need of proper treatment. Medical advice should always be available. What is more important, it should be known by all that it can be cured.

The control and ultimate extermination of syphilis is the object of the campaign. To accomplish the end desired, it is necessary to have complete co-operation of the public and the medical profession.

Neglect of the disease means serious complications to the afflicted one. It means, too, the spread of the disease to others, unsuspecting and innocent persons. Quick recognition means complete cure for the victim and safety for others.

If a person fears he has this disease, he should consult with a physician immediately. Since the first effects of syphilis are often painless, or entirely absent, the disease may be overlooked. But if there is the slightest possibility of its presence, medical attention should be had at once.

The doctor is frequently asked whether it is possible to be cured of syphilis. The answer is yes. Early recognition and early treatment will meet with early success. Unfortunately, there may be relapses. Treatment must be continued for a considerable

RECOVERY DRIVE BOOSTS STOCKS

Steel Shares Set Advance
Pace As Traders Show
Tendency To Buy

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Steel led the stock market on a recovery sortie today and favorites regained fractions to more than two points of recently lost ground.

Dealings were a bit faster than in yesterday's dragging session where the turnover was the smallest in six months. There were quiet profit realizing intervals and quotations were down moderately from the best near the fourth hour.

Rail bonds were inclined to edge forward, but other corporation loans were uneven.

Conspicuous on the upward reversal most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Firestone, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, American Can, N. Y. Central, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Union Carbide and Allis Chalmers.

American Telephone did little either way following the company's statement revealing 1937 net operating income was some $7,000,000 below that for 1936. An unusually large tax adjustment was included which did not appear in the 1936 report.

Declaration of a 25-cent dividend by General Motors after the close Monday, the same as paid a year ago, buoyed automobile stockholders.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Memoriam
In memory of my sister Helen Just six years ago today. My dear sister passed away. She was taken to don't know why. To her home up in the sky. The good Lord does what's best I know.

But seventeen seems young to go. She is gone I know not why. But not forgotten till I die. A happy home we once enjoyed. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember. None on earth can take your place. How sweet the memory still. But death has left loneliness. The world can never fill. Sadly missed by all who loved her.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank all of our kind friends and neighbors for their many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during the death of our beloved husband and father, Samuel Rambo. Special thanks to Rev. David Nelson and Singers. Also those sending floral offerings.

THE FAMILY
I wish to extend my sincerest thanks to all my neighbors and friends who were so kind during the illness and death of my beloved husband. Especially do I thank Rev. E. E. Sowards and all who donated cars and sent floral offerings and donating use of cars.

We wish to express our appreciation for the kindness and sympathy extended by our friends and neighbors during the death of our beloved brother, J. Willie Hindle. Special thanks to Rev. Chas. R. Lantry and Frederick J. Lank. Also those sending floral offerings and donating use of cars.
